

Mental Health CONNECT Aged Care

Did you know 10-15% of older people living in the community and up to 50% of older people living in residential aged care experience depression?

(Ostling & Skoog, 2002).

Are your staff prepared to support older people who experience mental health conditions?

Mental Health CONNECT Aged Care is unique mental health training which brings together knowledge from aged care, mental health and people who have personal experience of mental health conditions. This comprehensive one-day workshop enables workers in community and residential aged care services to gain confidence and skills to assist older people with mental health conditions.

This training is for community and residential aged care staff and volunteers.

- Learn about real-life experiences of mental 'illness' and recovery
- Understand the impact of age-related changes, losses and health problems on mental health
- Develop skills to CONNECT and communicate with older people experiencing mental distress
- Recognise the impact of trauma on older people
- Gain new insights on duty of care and risk
- Enhance your existing skills in aged care to support mental health
- Support older people to 'remain in control'

What aged care workers are saying about this training:

"Mental Health CONNECT Aged Care is a must for all working in the Aged Care Sector. I have participated in many professional development opportunities over my career, but this course really packs a punch in delivering quality information, current research-into-practice strategies, blended with a mix of activities which challenge perceptions."

Inhouse training is available in NSW and interstate on request - Talk to us about your training needs today.
